County Tax Rate Cut is Possible

Increased Sales Tax Income Expected to Offset Pay Boosts

Pay raises and some staff increases are reflected in the new Madison county budget but a tax rate cut for the general fund can be expected when the budget is recommended to the county board of supervisors for adoption at its meeting on Nov. 26.

Nelson Hagnauer, Granite City township supervisor and chairman of the board's finance committee, said that the county's additional quarter-cent share of sales taxes, more than ample funds should be available and the board should be able to cut the tax rate which currently is 10 cents.

The committee completed its work on the budget at a meeting Friday night, but none of the details was disclosed as members of the board. Hagnauer said a conference will be held soon when the budget will be unveiled.

Staff increases have been requested by the sheriff, who asked for 10 additional deputies, for the circuit clerk's office and for additional assistant state attorneys and public defenders.

Hagnauer said that if the sheriff's staff is increased by 10, four additional patrol cars will be needed.

The new budget is expected to show a large increase over last year's total of $5,681,897, but part of the reason will be the cost of elections to be held in 1970, Hagnauer said. The budget will take effect on Dec. 1.

Two Bronze Star Medals For Local Army Sergeant

Award of two Bronze Star Medals to Army Sgt. Dennis M. Barbee, 21—one for heroism and the other for meritorious service in Vietnam—was learned last week upon his return home.

Sgt. Barbee, a draftsman, is the son of Mrs. Tommie Davidson, 2501 Iowa street, and Denis Barbee of Rule, Tex. Before being drafted in April 1968, he was employed at Granite City Steel Co.

Upon completion of his leave Nov. 18, he will be assigned at Ft. Hood, Tex.

His Bronze Star Medal with "V" device for heroism resulted from action on June 6 when he was with Co. B, 2nd Battalion (Mechanized), 2nd Infantry.

The citation states: "For heroism in connection with military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam. Sgt. Barbee was serving with his unit on a battle mission in the dense rubber search of a suspected North Vietnamese battalion base suddenly subjected to an intense hostile fusillade from well entrenched insurgent positions.

"Sgt. Barbee immediately directed his men on line and aided them in placing devastating suppressive fire upon the aggressor emplacement. Continuing to disregard his personal safety, Sgt. Barbee then led a three-man fire team as they assaulted several enemy bunkers and silenced them with fragmentation grenades.

"Observing a rocket grenade fired from the insurgents with the burst of fire from his personal weapon. He then administered first aid to the casualties near him and organized litter teams to evacuate the wounded.

"His courageous initiative and selfless concern for his fellow soldiers directly contributed to saving several friendly lives.

Sgt. Barbee's outstanding display of aggressiveness, devotion to duty and personal bravery in keeping with the finest traditions of the military service and reflects great credit upon himself, the 1st Infantry Division and the U.S. Army."

The citation for the second Bronze Star Medal follows: "By direction of the President, the Bronze Star Medal is presented to Sgt. Dennis Barbee, who distinguished himself by outstandingly meritorious service in connection with military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam."

"During the period October 1968 to October 1969, he consistently manifested exemplary professional and initiative in obtaining outstanding results. His rapid assessment and solution of numerous problems inherent in a combat environment greatly enhanced the allied effectiveness against the enemy."

8 Sticks of Dynamite, Shotgun Found in Car

Venice police called upon federal authorities and the Army Depot Ordnance Co. for aid Sunday afternoon after eight sticks of dynamite and a loaded, sawed-off shotgun were found in the auto of a couple arrested after a circuitous chase that started as their car sped off the Tri-City Grocery parking lot.

Taken into custody were Harold Edwin Griffin, 36, of East St. Louis, and his wife, Clarice Lorraine Griffin, 26, who face theft and firearms charges.

Venice Chief John Essington said today that it is likely federal charges will be filed in connection with the gun, but no U. S. charges are anticipated on the double sticks of dynamite, since the couple had no caps to set them off.

The chase started when police were notified of a shoplifting incident at the store. Two hams were found on the back seat of the car, where a satchel with the shotgun was alongside the console between the two front seats of the car.

Police chased the red and white auto through alleys and along Washington, Lincoln and Klein streets before the car was halted at Sixth and Broadway. The couple did not offer any resistance.

Griffin was charged with theft under $150, no firearms owner registration card, unlawful use of a weapon, no driver's license, careless driving, speeding, trying to elude a police car and three stop sign violations.

Mrs. Griffin was charged with no firearms owner registration card, unlawful use of a weapon and theft under $150.

The dynamite was turned over to the Depot authorities.

Venice Freezes Tavern Licenses

Present Maximum of 9 To Be Limit; Bridge Maintenance Ok'd

The Venice city council froze the maximum of liquor licenses to the current total of nine to thwart any effort to open another tavern. The council action was taken during a regular meeting Friday night.

The total number of licenses now includes three for service and civic clubs, including two American Legion posts and a social club.

Alderman Oscar King said that he feared that a planned opening of a pool hall in North Venice could lead to an after-hours tavern which could become a trouble spot in the city.

The old ordinance listed the liquor licenses by classes which left an opening for another license.

During the meeting, the council adopted a McKinley bridge maintenance budget totaling $424,350 for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1970.

The major amount of $29,350 was provided to replace pipe and railing on the main spans, while $45,000 was appropriated to rehabilitate the viaduct on the eastbound lanes of the Venice approach.

Other items included work on deck trusses, $28,000; bridge participation in the new approach to the underpass, $20,000; increase clearance of $3000; seal asphalt pavement, $9000; repairs to cracked concrete coping on two piers, $7000; and replacement of the bridge deck on the tracks at the highline and Branch street viaduct, $1500.

Bridge Manager Henry K. McMullen reported a total of 289,736 crossings during October for a daily average of 8701. The daily average in September was 8703 with a total of 261,114 crossings.

The October traffic showed 68,334 crossings the first week, 67,475 the second, 61,549 the third, 60,760 the fourth and 28,618 on the last three days of the month.

The chase started when police were notified of a shoplifting incident at the store. Two hams were found on the back seat of the car, where a satchel with the shotgun was alongside the console between the two front seats of the car.

Books on Puppetry At SIU-SW Library

One of the finest personal collections of books on puppetry has been acquired by the Lovejoy Library at the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus, according to director John Abbott.

Purchased from Ellen Proctor, formerly of Springfield and now associated with the Detroit Institute of the Arts, the collection includes more than 400 books on puppetry and its history. For many years Mrs. Proctor and her late husband, Romain, entertained audiences throughout the country with their puppet show.

Proctor was active in the Puppeteers of America and the Union International des Marionnettes (UNIMA) Through UNIMA, the Proctors made friends around the globe. Much of the correspondence he received from persons in puppet circles has also been acquired by the SIU-SW library.

With the collection came three of the Proctors' oldest puppets, a rod puppet from France, a 60-pound Sicilian puppet, and a Bunraku, Japanese classical puppet more than a century old and one of only 11 in this country.

Mrs. Proctor, who has been on campus this week as a consultant to the Lovejoy Library, presented a "panorama of puppetry" Friday in the library auditorium under the sponsorship of the SIU Friends of the Library.

'Yule Mail Call' List Continues to Grow

A Pontoon Beach soldier who recently extended his service time in Vietnam an additional six months and a local resident's grandson, also stationed in Vietnam, who was born and reared in Granite City, but whose parents now reside in Collinsville, are among the servicemen listed in today's "Yule Mail Call."

Local relatives, friends, churches and service organizations are invited to send names and addresses of Quad-City military personnel serving at home or overseas for inclusion in the pre-Christmas project.

In the past three years, more than 1700 names of local servicemen have been published prior to the Yuletide holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz D. Marco, 2307 Kirkpatrick Homes, wrote "Yule Mail Call" concerning their grandson, Army Sp4 Walter A. Singleton, currently based with the 2nd Administration Co., Chu Lai, about 40 miles from DaNang, Vietnam. The serviceman was born in Granite City and attended Practioner junior high school and the local high school before moving with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Singleton, to Collinsville.

"David would appreciate hearing from his friends," Mrs. Arthur C. Bourbon, 3458 Waterman avenue, the serviceman's mother, said this week. Readers are reminded to clip and save "Yule Mail Call" lists as they are published, adding the names of military personnel to their own Christmas mailing list. Names and addresses will be printed as they become available.

Those submitting the serviceman's name, rank, serial number and correct address, are asked to identify themselves on the postal card, letter or slip of paper in event verification of unit abbreviations is required.

To ensure accuracy, it is asked that names and addresses be sent in by letter or post card or brought to the Press-Record office, 1815 Delmar avenue. Early publication is necessary to guarantee delivery prior to the Christmas holidays.

Also included in today's list is Chief Warrant Officer David A. Bourbon, stationed with the 17th Air Cavalry on the Cambodian border, a current trouble spot.

Local residents are invited to include the servicemen on their Christmas mailing list and send greeting cards, letters or packages, thereby helping to brighten the coming holiday season for military personnel who are away from their homes and families. Early mailing is recommended.

Guild Honors Golden Agers

The Afternoon Guild of St. John United Church of Christ met Thursday at the church, opening with a morning work session, followed by a 12:30 delectable course honoring 13 "golden age" members of the group who were seated at a special table, each wearing a corsage of golden yellow 'mums.

Mrs. Helen Schaefer, president, called the meeting to order after the luncheon for a program and business session. Miss Luella Deterding was chairman of the serving committee.

MRS. STEVEN FASICK, a bride of Saturday, before her wedding at First United Presbyterian Church, she was Sheila Lyn Jones.

Miss Jones, Steven Fasick Exchange Wedding Vows

The wedding of Miss Sheila Lyn Jones and Steven R. Fasick took place Saturday evening at First United Presbyterian Church.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Jones, 2012 Clark avenue. Mr. Fasick's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Fasick, 2105 Cottage avenue.

Arrangements of white flowers on the altar and candles in the aisle, the standards entwined with smilax, provided the setting for the 7 o'clock ceremony performed by Dr. David B. Maxton.

The soloist was Mrs. June Branding. Her songs were "Because," "The Lord's Prayer" and "Think Alone."

Mrs. Isabel Schmidt presided at the organ.

A gown of Chantilly lace was worn by the bride. It was styled with a scoop neckline embellished with iridescent sequins. The sequin trim was repeated on the elbow sleeves and the Watteau train with triple tiers of ruffles at the hem line. Forward floral petals held in place a tiered veil of illusion and the bride carried an offside cascade of gardenias and variegated ivy.

The attendants, Miss Sherri Jones, maid of honor and Mrs. Ronald Haldean, bridesmaid

Bouquets of white flowers adorned the altar and white bows marked the family pews for the 5:30 service at which Rev. Lawrence Mattingly officiated. A reception was held immediately afterward at the VFW Hall on Washington avenue.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of ivory satin and peau d'ange lace. It had an A-line silhouette and an Empire bodice. Long tapering sleeves were trimmed with wide panels of lace entwined with pearls. The bodice featuring a cameo neckline, was made of lace in a beaded pattern of pearls and crystals.

A peacock train had a panel of lace and appliques carrying out the same pattern. A matching headpiece secured a veil of silk illusion, and white baby 'mums and roses were combined in the bride's bouquet.

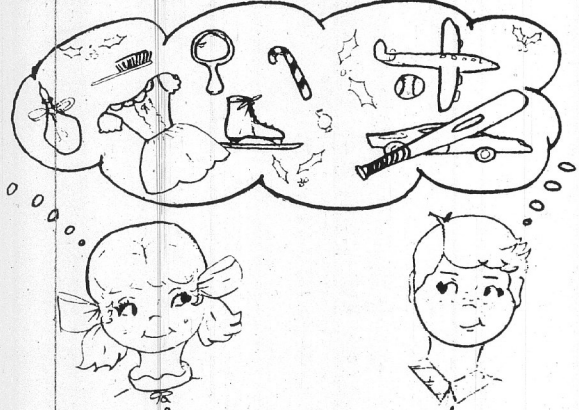

Four attendants, Mrs. James Valicoff, matron of honor, and Mrs. Marty LeVault, the bride's sister, Miss Donna Davall, and Miss Elaine Hayden, a sister of the bridegroom, were dressed alike in a strawberry karate fabric.

Madison's Trojan Gridders Win Midwestern Conference Title

Top Berthalo
33-7 to Close
Undefeated Season

The Trojans, defeating Berthalo 33-7 Friday at MHS field and finishing the season with a 7-0-2 record, become the first undefeated team in the history of Madison high school football.

Keeping the record from perfection, were scoreless ties with Rosary of St. Louis and Mater Dei of Breese.

Berthalo was first on the scoreboard Friday with a 25-yard touchdown pass from Quarterback Keith Hattery to John Smith during the opening period. Glenn Vetter kicked the extra point.

Trojan Quarterback Austin Lewis capped a sustained march in the second period with a one yard touchdown sneak. The two-point conversion run failed leaving the Eagles with a 7-6 halftime advantage.

Coach Al Vander Haar explained the halftime score deficit, saying, "We anticipated more of a passing game and they came at us running. We put in a new 4-4-3 defense to protect against passing, instead of our usual 5-4 defense."

"It was just like straying from home, no one was quite certain of his job. Our new defense was a stranger. We weren't accustomed to it."

"It was tough getting up for the game after all ready winning the title so, we were a little stale."

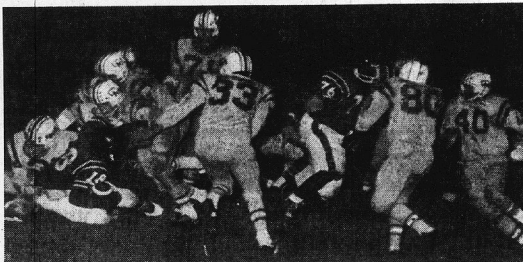

"After halftime we went back to the 5-4. It was like coming home. Everyone automatically knew his job. If one unit is going right, it picks up the other unit. When the defense began to spark we began scoring."

The Eagles took the halftime kickoff, completed two passes; and on the third throwing attempt, Willie Ackers intercepted and ran 55 yards for a TD. Harold James kicked the conversion.

Minutes later the Trojans again had the ball and Ackers broke loose 40 yards for a touchdown. The point-after-touchdown kick was blocked. Still in the third quarter, Lewis tossed to Ackers for a 19-yard touchdown play. The kick was again blocked.

In the final quarter, Douglas Smith was quarterbacking for the Trojans. On a broken play Smith kept the ball and dashed 35 yards to the end zone. Lewis passed to Ackers converting two points.

Individual Trojan rushing statistics show James carrying ten times for 97 yards; Dwayne Ackers, 6 for 58 yards.

Coach Vander Haar summed the game win and the season. "We do it the simple way. We don't try to trick or fool anyone."

"Basically, every team has three running plays: up the middle, off-tackle or around end. If you can't do these, you're not going to fool anybody with tricky plays. Madison has boys that can do it."

The Trojans rushed 272 yards, passed 33 yards for 13 first downs. Two passes were completed. They had three touchdowns averaging 23.3 yards, 45 yards in five penalties and no fumbles.

Intercepting enemy passes were Trojans John Ervin, Phil Davis and Ackers two.

Berthalo rushed 51 yards, completed 8 of 23 passes for 73 yards. Three Eagle punts averaged 28.1 yards. They lost no fumbles and were penalized twice for a total 30 yards.

Boating, Hunting, Fishing Rules Being Strictly Enforced

Citations were issued to 499 persons in September for violations of hunting, fishing or boating regulations or for ignoring state park rules, the Illinois Department of Conservation reports.

John Rubuffoni, chief law enforcement officer, said boat operators were fined $4180. Fishermen and hunters paid fines totaling $2870 and $1440, respectively. Persons who violated park regulations were fined $850.

Rubuffoni said 98 arrests were made for disregarding provisions of the Boating Code. "As usual, the most common violations concerned safety equipment. People cannot seem to realize that we will not permit boats equipped with unapproved lifesaving devices or the wrong type of fire extinguisher on our waters."

Other common violations were operating an unregistered boat, not having an observer on board while towing a water skier, operating too fast in a no-wake area, defacing state signs and operating without lights.

Of the 131 anglers cited, 109 were arrested for fishing without a license. Fishing in private waters without permission of the owner was the second most common violation. Other citations were for dumping trash into public waters, fishing with an illegal device, shooting frogs, taking frogs out of season and fishing with an unlicensed hoop net.

Rubuffoni said 54 hunters were cited for having an unlicensed gun in a vehicle. Four received tickets for having a loaded gun in a car.

Other hunters were cited for not having a valid license, hunting on private property without the landowner's permission, hunting during a closed season

New 8-School Prep Conference Being Planned

A new eight-school prep athletic conference may be formed to begin league play for the 1971-72 season. Involved in discussions are: Wood River of the Southwestern conference; Berthalo, Highland, Triad and Roxana of the Midwestern conference; and independents O'Fallon, Jerseyville and Mascoutah.

If the new league is formed only Madison and Duqu would remain as Midwestern conference members.

Trojan coach Al Vander Haar commented, "From my viewpoint as a football coach, Jerseyville, Wood River and O'Fallon would dominate the league, making a good three-way title race and a mad scramble for fourth place."

and hunting before or after the legal shooting time.

Citations also were issued for shooting from a road, possession of waterfowl before the season opened, hunting waterfowl without a duck stamp, using an illegal device, shooting waterfowl from a moving motorboat and hunting in forest preserve. Conservation officers issued 242 citations for Game Code violations.

Twenty-eight persons were cited for disregarding park laws. Seven of them under 21 years old were drinking beer in a state park. Other violations included exceeding a park speed limit, camping without a permit in an area closed to camping, littering, drinking alcoholic beverages other than beer, and building a fire in the wrong area.

Belleville Maroons Clobber Warriors - 33-8

Granite City's title dreams were dashed with a 33-8 defeat at Belleville West Friday. The Warriors didn't enter West territory until 33 seconds before halftime, and after a Maroon tide had rolled for three TDs.

The Warriors finished with a 5-3 season's record, 4-2 in the Southwestern conference.

East St. Louis won 46-0 at Collinsville Friday leaving the Flyers with a 4-1 league mark and an opportunity to challenge Belleville West (5-0 in the league) for a sharing of the conference crown in a Phantoms-giving Day game at East St. Louis.

Game statistics show that the Warriors and Maroons were a fair match, Granite City's net gain was 286 yards for 15 first downs and Belleville took 292 yards for 18 first downs. But in the first half, the game appeared to be an obvious mismatch.

Belleville had evidently scouted all the Warriors' clutch moves. In particular, Warrior Dave Evans' quarterback keep or pass option play was dead.

Evans took the snap from center and dropped back into a "pocket" protected by a wall of Warrior backfielders. After the Maroon rushers had committed themselves to attempt to penetrate the "pocket," Evans would roll-out with the option to pass or run with the ball. But a stray Maroon was always waiting for Evans.

Evans was seldom allowed time to set himself to pass. He completed 11 of 24 throwing attempts for 141 yards. Leaping receptions by brothers, Dave and Jeff Melzer were key contributors to the passing success. Two passes were intercepted.

Granite City punted three times for a 21.7 yard average, lost one fumble and was penalized 35 yards.

Belleville rushed 201 yards, passed 91 yards, threw eight completions in 11 attempts, had one pass intercepted, and lost no fumbles. The Maroons punted once for 42 yards and lost two touchdowns during the opening kickoff, and punted on the fourth down. Granite City using seven plays, achieved a first down on a pass to Jeff Melzer and then punted to the Maroon 34 yard line.

The Maroons made a touchdown with eight running plays. Bucky Ballard ground out most of the yardage. Quarterback John Bunch sneaked the final two yards. Rich Caravia kicked the extra point.

Taking the kickoff, the Warriors punted on the fourth down. The Maroons marched 55 yards to a TD. Tom Stock carried into the end zone. The conversion kick missed.

On the Warriors turn with the ball, Steve Ganz grabbed a first down pass but no more yardage was gained and they punted.

From the GC 46-yard line, Belleville ended a six-play drive with a two-yard pass from Bunch to Greg Russell in the end zone. A quarterback sneak converted two more points.

With 2:36 minutes before intermission, the Warriors threatened to score. Don Harris returned the kickoff 20 yards to the GC 35. Jim Greenwald rushed three plays in a row for a first down and Jeff Melzer tore a pass from the arms of a Maroon defender for a 39-yard reception on the Belleville 10-yard line. Four consecutive passes were incomplete giving the Maroons the ball with 14 seconds before halftime.

Immediately after halftime the Warriors threatened again. Dave Melzer returned the kickoff 21 yards, a pass to each Jeff and Dave Melzer and the majority of the rushing by Greenwald put the Warriors on the Maroon 26 where a pass was intercepted.

With the Maroons third play, Russell broke loose 55 yards for a touchdown. On the conversion, Bunch was tackled before he could pass.

Harris returned the kickoff 20 yards, nine consecutive carries by Evans and Corey, and 20 yards in Maroon penalties moved the ball to the Maroon 30. Greenwald rushed for one yard then a pass was tried only to be intercepted by Paul Adamson to end the third quarter.

In eight plays the Maroons made their final touchdown with an 11-yard pass from Bunch to Ed Merten. The extra point kick missed.

It was the Warriors turn to score. Starting from their own 31, the team's rushing and passing set up Greenwald to run 21 yards for a touchdown. Greenwald ran the two-point conversion.

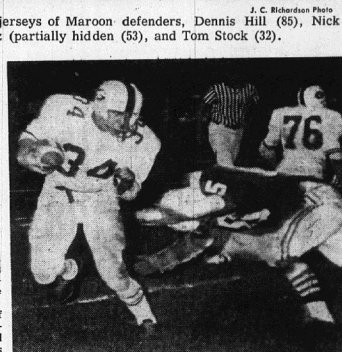

An interception returned the ball to the Warriors, but a fumble gave the ball to the Maroons who ran out the clock.

Williams and Townsend Nuptials on Saturday

Miss Karen Sue Townsend and Wayne E. Williams exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony taking place Saturday evening at First Baptist Church with the Rev. Jerry I. Grant officiating at the 7 o'clock service.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Townsend, Rural Route Two. Mr. Williams' parents are Mrs. Helen Williams, 2415 Dewey avenue, and the late Dewey E. Williams.

Flowers and greenery on the altar and white bows on the pews, provided the setting for the wedding, music for which was furnished by Mrs. Jewel Everett, organist. The selections were "Because" and the Lord's Prayer.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street-length dress of re-embroidered lace with an Empire bodice and satin trim. The bride's hair was styled in a lace headpiece was fashioned of tiny seed pearls and crystals, and the bride carried a colonial nosegay of white carnations.

The attendants were Mrs. Cecil Williams, a sister-in-law of the bridegroom, matron of honor, and the bride's young sister, Patricia Marie Townsend, junior maid. Another sister, JoAnn Townsend, and Larry Lynn Townsend, a brother, served as flower girl and ring bearer.

The matron of honor was dressed in light blue satin crepe, street-length, with an Empire bodice and a bow in the back, accented pleats. A headpiece matching the dress, and she carried a nosegay of blue and white carnations. The junior maid wore a white crocheted lace dress over satin and blue and white flowers.

The flower girl, similarly attired in blue and white, carried a basket of petals.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Townsend chose an aqua coat and dress ensemble while the bridegroom's mother appeared in a navy blue dress. Both wore black accessories and orchid corsages.

The bridegroom's attendants were Cecil E. Williams, a brother, as best man, and Terry Townsend, and Thomas Townsend, brothers of the bride, and Dale Williams, a nephew of the bridegroom, were ushers.

A reception was held in the church social rooms directly after the ceremony. Wanda Jane Williams, the bridegroom's sister, was in charge of the guest book.

After a fortnight's honeymoon in Tennessee and the Ozarks, the newlyweds will make their home in Granite City. Both young people are graduates of the local high school and the bridegroom is employed by McDonnell Douglas Corp. in St. Louis.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse A. Clements and Mrs. Lizzie Sheets and daughter, Susan, of Cumberland, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hopper of Arlington, Va., Mrs. Elinor Hayward and Mrs. Elizabeth Goettermann of Hillsboro, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wainwright of Affton, Mo., and others from this area. The rehearsal dinner was given Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Pointer, 2400 Dewey avenue.

Hobby Show Planned by Club

The home of Mrs. Frank Kraus, 2585 Spalding avenue, was the place of meeting Thursday evening for the Minerva Women's Club.

Mrs. Louis Brusatti, president, called the group to order and during a business hour a report of the recent rummage sale was given. Most of the evening was spent by the members in work on projects for a hobby show to be held Nov. 20.

Sen. Smith Opposes Judicial Moonlighting, Cites Logjam

U. S. Senator Ralph Tyler Smith, Illinois Republican, last week took issue with the action of the U. S. Judicial Conference in dropping its five-month-old rule against outside income by federal judges.

"If a judge is moonlighting, doing something else — whatever it may be — even if it's a perfectly sound and reasonable thing, it has to in some measure detract from the time he is spending in his primary job which is being a judge," said Smith.

Smith's views on the outside activities of federal judges came in response to a question during an interview last week in the Senate studios, recorded for release yesterday.

In scrapping its rule against unauthorized income by federal judges, the Judicial Conference came up with a substitute rule that judges report off-the-bench earnings confidentially to a panel of judges. Under the new rule, there would be no requirement for advance permission for extra judicial work.

Smith said he supported the Senate's recent action in approving a better retirement program for judges on the federal bench. He said it was one way of attracting good men for judicial service.

The junior senator from Illinois said that because of the already existing logjam on judicial calendars, he "would very firmly have to oppose a judge participating in any outside activity which would in any way deter the rapid motion of litigation of matters that are before the courts for final disposition."

Asked to comment on the Washington legislative pace, Sen. Smith cited a substantial contrast with Springfield, although conceding that "possibly the Illinois legislature, by reason of the press of bills introduced, moves too quickly."

"Certainly it seems to be balanced in the other direction in Washington. Congress has passed or decided only relatively few of the important issues before it as of this time.

"Here we are into November, where the session will recess shortly, and it's going to leave a tremendous lot of work to be done in the second session next year — or else it won't be done at all.

"I feel that somehow the operation here has been a rather slow one. Whether this is by necessity or the issues are all that important that it takes that long to decide them, I'm not quite yet prepared to say, but I think from the standpoint of enacting legislation it is very slow."

May Vote for Haynsworth

Asked about an earlier statement that he did not feel he could support the nomination of Judge Clement Haynsworth to the U. S. Supreme Court, Sen. Smith noted that "since that time the matter has been reconsidered by the American Bar Association's committee and the President has taken a strong and a very definitive position which he had not done before."

"He and his staff have gone through the specific allegations relative to the fitness of Judge Haynsworth to serve and have answered them in a direct way; this had not been done before. This was one of the reasons I was concerned and announced the original position, because charges had been made which had not been answered."

"They have been answered now, however, and I think in a rather definitive way."

"As I have always done on controversial issues, I have continued to review the evidence as it has been brought forth, and from a summation of that I will take a position when the roll call vote is taken. Just what it will be I am not at this moment prepared to say."

Backs Nixon on Vietnam
Regarding Vietnam, Sen. Smith said that "for the most part, people are not dissatisfied with the manner in which the President is handling the war" but that they are "quite concerned" about the war. "Everyone, including the President, wants to see our participation terminated at the earliest possible date."

He opposed the Senate setting a specific date for President Nixon to meet in returning American troops from Vietnam. He said this would defeat the purpose of those sponsoring the resolution.

"We have two possibilities of the manner in which we terminate this war. No. 1 is by a complete military victory which is unlikely at this point without committing a great deal more material than we are willing to commit. The only other possibility of an early end of this war is a negotiated peace."

"If you set a timetable in which you say, 'Come what may we'll be out of the country with all of our troops by a certain date,' the enemy has no incentive to negotiate. All he has to do is sit and wait for the timetable to run out, and then he can accomplish his objectives without having even participated in negotiation."

Views on Moratorium

Sen. Smith agreed with Vice-President Agnew in "substantial measure. I don't suggest that everyone who participated in the Oct. 15 moratorium or those who may participate in subsequent moratoriums are in any way unpatriotic citizens."

"There is some feeling that some of them are not, that these demonstrations are generated by those who realistically are not on our side. This may be possible so far as some are concerned."

"With regard to the rest of them, they are bespeaking the frustrations many people feel about our involvement in a war most people want us to terminate. And yet I feel there is some substance and merit in the comments that the Vice-President has made."

Asked about the Massachusetts Supreme Court ruling that an inquest at which Sen. Edward Kennedy will testify is to be initially secret Smith said it could set a dangerous precedent.

"As a basic principle, judicial proceedings, inquest or otherwise, are matters in which the public has an interest and in which the public therefore has a right to the knowledge of what in fact goes on."

Farm Column

Rain Unwelcome

Farmers did not welcome the rain which halted harvest of corn and soybeans recently.

At least one-fourth of the corn still is unharvested, but only a few soybeans still are in the fields.

Farmers planted some wheat the middle of last week. A little wheat is yet to be planted. Farmers will finish wheat planting just as soon as they can, because it's getting near the latest date for planting wheat.

Some forage was cut for hay the past week. Recent frosts caused legume plants to go dormant, so cutting them now does not lower the food reserves stored in the roots to carry the plants through the winter. It is all right to cut hay crops now, but with less cover during the winter there may be more heaving from freezing and thawing. That hazard, however, is not great. If you'll need the hay this winter and have a hay crop in the field, go ahead and cut it now.

Retirement Banquet

A banquet honoring Agronomist Pat Johnson on his retirement was held last week in Elfringham.

Johnson is well known by farmers and agribusinessmen here. He has been associated with the University of Illinois soil experiment fields in southern Illinois since 1930. Knowledge he acquired by applied research which he did and, in turn, passed on to farmers contributed much to the four-fold increase in crop yields farmers have achieved the past 40 years. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson plan to move to Arizona.

4-H Still Popular

There's one area at least where the often quoted decline in farm population doesn't seem to be showing up. 1968 figures just released for the 4-H agricultural program in the United States shows a record of 968 thousand boys and girls enrolled in agriculture. This is an increase of nearly 19,000 over the previous year.

This popular 4-H program covers a broad area of agriculture, not only attracting young farmers, but also serving as an important training ground for future ag-related careers. Agriculture-related businesses today employ about 30% of the working population.

Any boy or girl who will be nine but not yet 19 years old by Jan. 1 may enroll now in 4-H for 1970. Contact the county Extension office or local 4-H club leader for details about 4-H.

Forty-five Madison county agriculture 4-H club leaders represent a total of 311 years of leadership in local 4-H clubs. Howard Knecht, Edwardsville, and Wallace Schrumpp, Highland, each has completed 24 years of 4-H club leadership. Wayne Stille, Alhambra, has led a 4-H club for 22 years, and Harold H. Paul, Alton, 21 years.

Number of years others have led a 4-H club are as follows: 17 years—Richard Gwillo, 16—Harold Batters, Edward Pledge, 15—Henry Schaefer, 13—Udell Wehling, Harold Thurnau, 11—

Mrs. Ethel Weiss, 65, Leader in Civic Events, Dies

Mrs. Ethel Weiss, 65, of 1632 Fifth street, Madison, an active volunteer worker for many charitable causes and a pioneer advocate of special facilities for handicapped children in the Madison schools, died at 4 a.m. Friday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Although in ill health for several years with a heart ailment and hospitalized on four occasions since last March, Mrs. Weiss had continued to support various philanthropic programs in which her interests had been centered most of her adult life. She suffered a stroke two weeks ago Friday when she was admitted at the local hospital.

Mrs. Weiss was a native of Mt. Vernon, but moved to Venice as a young child. She attended the Venice elementary school and graduated from Madison high school. She and her husband, Ignace, who survives, have resided in Madison since shortly after their marriage.

Keenly interested in problems of educating handicapped youngsters, Mrs. Weiss was among civic leaders instrumental in achieving the inclusion of classroom facilities into plans for new school buildings in Madison, to be utilized solely for special education pupils.

She served as secretary to the B'Nai B'Rith Auxiliary when a chapter was organized in Madison and was awarded a clock from the national organization in recognition of 25 years membership and service.

Mrs. Weiss held office in New Hope Chapter 432, Order of the Eastern Star and was an active volunteer worker for the Cancer Crusade, Heart Fund and similar fund-raising activities. She also took part in St. Elizabeth Hospital's building and improvement campaign.

2 on Sheriff's Merit Board Ruled Ineligible

The Madison county Sheriff's Department Merit Commission may be revised by the county board of supervisors as two of the three commissioners were declared as ineligible to serve.

As they were elected last February, Marshall Smith, assistant state's attorney, said the statutes are clear that the appointments will have to be voided.

The two commissioners are Raymond Galloway, Alton township supervisor and commission chairman, and Martin Schaurte, former Edwardsville township supervisor who was defeated for re-election last April.

Smith was asked for an opinion by county Auditor John Kravack, who also wanted to determine if the two are entitled to compensation of $25 per diem plus mileage. He said they received about $55 per month since appointed.

Old Public Records Have Historical Value

The state archivist now has specific authority to preserve state and local records having historical significance, but which had been scheduled for destruction by the state and local records commissions, Secretary of State Paul Powell, state archivist said today.

Recently approved legislation clarifies the position of the state archivist with regard to final disposition of public records by providing that the state official has the final say before complete obliteration of the material takes place. The state archivist will determine what records should be retained for reproduction by various processes.

"Many old records may have priceless historical value," Powell said, "and should be preserved and deposited in the State Library, the State Historical Library or with an historical society, private museum or library."

Change of Voice Research Conducted by SIU-SW Prof.

"Since the time of Aristotle, much of the research and writing concerning the 'change of voice' has been based upon the conclusions of previous writers," says Warren Joseph, professor of music at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern.

Reporting on his research on vocal growth measurement in male adolescents in an article which will appear in the winter issue of the Journal of Research in Music Education, Joseph says it has been well established by other scientific investigations that people with differing body types have their own distinct maturation curves. "My investigations tend to establish that similar developmental differences exist in the growth of the voice. The overwhelming weight of evidence establishes that the lowest voice ranges are produced by the most physically mature."

Prof. Joseph measured 200 students in a Michigan school each month for a school year in order to establish guidelines for observation of specific indicators of the relationship between physical growth and voice development.

"It appears from the study," he said, "that dramatic voice changes occur most frequently during the late winter and early spring months."

Joseph's extensive research has been centered around the voice as a musical instrument rather than an instrument of speech. "My study has been given to correcting speech impediments and improving the speaking voice," he says, "but very little research has been done with the voice as an instrument of music. I want to know what is needed in the music field to develop capabilities of what we call musicians."

A native of White Plains, N.Y., Joseph is a graduate of New York State University and earned his doctorate at Boston University. In addition to being an authority on adolescent vocal growth, he is a nationally recognized composer.

He and his family live in Godfrey.

CARE Multiplied Each $1 to $8.53 in Aid

For every dollar contributed by the American and Canadian people in fiscal year 1969, CARE delivered $8.53 in help to less fortunate people, according to the agency's 23rd annual report.

Public contributions totaled $12,492,230, Midwest Director Jane Terrell reported, while the total value of aid distributed was $106,558,892.

CARE food, self-help and medical programs helped 36,600,000 in treating and treating 32 million who benefited, four million who benefited by self-help projects in education, job training, health and community development; and 600,000 in treating and treatment programs conducted by Medico, a service of CARE.

Main recipients were 26 million undernourished children fed regularly at institutions, including schools, pre-school and nutrition centers CARE helped to build.

Compared to the previous year, the value of aid distributed increased nearly $27 million. The amount of help delivered per dollar donated rose from $8.52. The average contribution went from $8.75 to $10.25.

Composting Leaves and Garden Trash

A backyard compost pile will solve your leaf and trash problem and supply you with a leaf mold.

Garden compost piles are layers of leaves and garden trash, soil, lime and fertilizer. When this combination is occasionally watered the pile soon becomes well rotted leaf mold ready for top dressing flowers, conditioning your soil and transplanting potted plants. Soil microbes and earth worms soon combine the plant humus and fertilizer to produce rich humus for garden use.

Compost pits are often shallow pits in the ground but some make a silo-like container with fence posts and wire. A one foot layer of leaves, grass clippings and garden trash is covered with two or three inches of soil and fertilizer. An equal mixture of 12-12-12 and lime is used to speed up the rotting and become organic fertilizer. Add one pound of fertilizer and lime mix for each ten square feet of compost pile. Occasionally water the pile to maintain a proper moisture level.

New Houses, Old Trees

One tree near a new house is worth a small fortune if it can be saved during construction.

Home building in the woods creates a new world for country trees and many gradually die. Some are killed when trenches for water lines and drain fields cut their roots. Many others gradually die from no apparent cause.

Extra dirt over the roots of forest trees is a major cause of this "mysterious dying." Most tree roots are in the top few inches of soil where the high concentration of soil atmosphere and moisture occur. Fill dirt instantly changes this natural situation by changing the soil atmosphere and the tree begins to die. A big puddle of sucking the soil during construction create the same "smothering" effect.

Dying back of limbs and general decline appear in the second and third summer when fill dirt causes smothering. Large trees finally die while medium sized trees often recover. New growth begins to appear along the trunk and large limbs when trees begin to develop new roots. Major pruning and intensive care re-suits in gradual recovery of surviving trees.

Advance planning will easily protect these country trees as they adjust to suburban living. select a few individuals for their location and individual beauty. Build a fence around them to include several feet of soil surface in all directions. Creating a hummer yard next to a tree is another way to protect individual trees.

When extra fill is an absolute necessity spread several inches of gravel or crushed rock before adding the fill to provide good air-movement between the natural soil and "fill" dirt. Be certain this blanket of gravel reaches the trunk. Never pile soil around the trunk. Oak and hickory trees are so sensitive they often die when a few inches are added to the natural soil level.

Every tree requires a wall around the trunk to prevent smothering of the stump. The well (tree well) combined with a thick gravel layer will save most trees when two or three feet of fill soil is added. Some root smothering still occurs but the tree will survive. Extra fertilizer and occasional deep watering provides the intensive care for complete recovery.

Local Twin Top Judge In Butter Competition

Local twins, Donna and Di-ane Kinney, were members of a prize winning dairy products judging team that competed last week in New Orleans in the annual Collegiate Dairy Products Evaluation contest.

Miss Donna Kinney took high individual honors in judging butter. She was the first girl to win first prize honors for judging a dairy product.

The twins are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Donn Kinney, 2639 East 23rd street. The University of Illinois Dairy Products Judging Team, of which the girls are members, received $1800 in prize money during the contest. The Illinois team placed third among the 22 college teams competing. Some of the prize money will be used for scholarships to the university.

The teams are composed of juniors and seniors majoring in a phase of food science. The U. of I. team, coached by Prof. Joseph Tobias, won first place in judging three of five dairy products included in the contest — ice cream, cheddar cheese and butter. The other two products evaluated were milk and cottage cheese.

Laclede Steel Earnings Loss To Exceed 1968

Laclede Steel Co. had a net loss of $1,087,797 during the third quarter of this year, compared to a net loss of $657,000 during the same period of 1968, according to a report by Paul B. Akin, president of the company which operates a plant in Madison.

The third-quarter loss brought to $3,316,840 the total net loss for the nine months of 1969, compared to a loss of $1,336,157 during the same nine-month period of the previous year, the report shows.

Sales during the third quarter this year were $23,994,886, compared to sales of $23,586,744 during the third quarter of 1968.

Noting that losses for the first three quarters of this year approximate those of the same period last year, the president said that "at present we anticipate that our loss for the year will be somewhat larger than last year."

Dividend Restricted
"This loss has made effective the dividend restriction described in the notes to the financial statements of our last several annual reports. We are not permitted to pay a dividend, therefore, until our earnings list this restriction."

Major cause of the loss this year, Akin said, "has been the delay in starting the new pre-stressed mill." He noted that mill equipment was delivered well behind schedule and that the checkout of equipment "has required much more time than we had originally anticipated."

He said that "high depreciation and interest charges have continued, however, and earnings have not yet received the benefits of substantial shipments from the new mill."

Akin pointed out that the checkout is now nearing completion "and we have had numerous satisfactory production runs on the new mill."

United Methodist Village For Elderly is Expanding

A sizable land acquisition completed this week by the United Methodist Village in Lawrenceville, signaled the start of the most comprehensive building program to shelter and care for the elderly in the 60-year history of the institution. Dr. E. M. Dycus, former pastor of the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church here, is the administrator of the cottages.

Ten acres adjacent to the original five-acre tract have been purchased by the board of directors of United Methodist Village from the Hennessy estate, for a consideration of more than $50,000, and will immediately become available for an expansion of facilities.

The acquisition triples the original land area and now makes possible the ultimate goal of a retirement and health-care village wherein persons of mature years may live out their lives in comfort and security, with nursing care added when needed. The proposed expansion of nursing and housing facilities will increase by more than 50% the present number of admissions of patients and members, thereby relieving a problem of great concern to Methodist authorities, who have turned away numerous applicants in recent years simply because facilities have been filled to capacity and the waiting list has continued to grow. The Rev. James M. Owens, chairman of the board of directors, who was on the scene when the purchase was completed, termed the transaction "constructive action which demonstrates the genuine concern of the United Methodist Church for the welfare of elderly persons." He said the growth and character of the facilities in Lawrenceville had already attracted national attention and "now we shall move forward in a program of even greater service." That which Dr. Dycus, our administrator, and officials of our church had in recent years termed merely a "dream" is now on the threshold of reality.

Typical comment by private citizens was that of Sam Jones, prominently known former editor and publisher of the "Lawrence County News," a public spirited citizen who was for years closely associated with the Methodist Village: "Numerous officials share in credit for the growth of facilities and services, but in my observation the moving spirit has been the tall, soft-spoken but energetic administrator, Dr. Ernest M. Dycus."

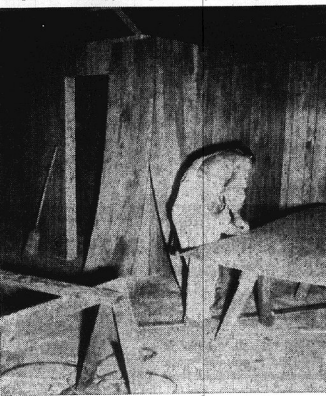

From the first, I was amazed with his ambitious planning. He was always talking about a complex of residential buildings, apartments, health care centers and recreation which could become the ideal community for the lonely, the elderly and those in need of good nursing care. It looks like he is achieving that ambition. Trustees and other officials agree that Sam Jones is near to target. Trustees are charged with financial realities and they have tempered their enthusiastic planning with the requirement that the administrator should come up with the money or assurances that money would be available when needed.

Dr. Dycus has consistently accepted that challenge. He confidently believes that when a need is clearly defined, good business practices will make possible the desired improvement. In his years as administrator, his proposals have literally transformed the former Methodist Home into a village. The three-story residential building has been completely refurbished and private apartments have been erected, and of greatest service, the 100-bed Wesley health care center, has been constructed and put into operation. Today the total complex is staffed by 136 officials and employees and the annual budget approaches one million dollars. Good business practices have enabled the United Methodist Village to pay its way. Moreover, the concept of "loving Christian care" has brought numerous cash gifts from patrons and friends. Thus, when negotiating for the land purchase, Dr. Dycus was able to win quick assent from the board of trustees by informing them he had sufficient money available to pay in full.

And the end is not in sight. Although Dr. Dycus is embarrassed when credited with responsibility for improvements, he is not reticent in service for humanity. He merely explains that in doing God's work, all things are possible.

Already he has the architectural firm of Anderson and Bortel of Chicago, at work on a master plan which will be submitted to the board of trustees in November. His "vision" of the village of the future is a complex somewhat on the Williamsburg format. Present buildings and new structures, including the nursing facility with an additional 50 beds, are encompassed with walkways, streets, village greens. And, centered so that it influences the entire scene, will be a handsome chapel of colonial design. He says of the chapel, "its spiritual quality will bring inspiration, comfort and healing to our members. We must have a Chapel. Just now, I do not know where the money will come from. But it will come."

'College Night' On Wednesday At GC High School

Admission officers and representatives from at least 11 major universities and colleges will be on hand Wednesday evening at Granite City high school to discuss with parents and students the current requirements and advantages offered by schools of higher learning.

In announcing the annual "College Night" program last week, Principal Lawrence McCauley and Assistant Principal Steve Jones urged all parents and students interested in making plans to attend college to visit the local high school and confer with the admission officers.

Introduction of the university representatives and a general review session will take place at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday in the high school auditorium. Consultation periods where parents and prospective college entrants may discuss curriculum requirements and registration dates, among other topics, when the individual admissions personnel will follow.

Parents of high school sophomores and juniors are especially encouraged to participate in the program, McCauley said, pointing out that early planning for a college education is now required. Most universities and colleges accept students at the beginning of their senior high school year, he added.

Do not leave questions unanswered until the student is a senior, the educator advised. Even though young persons already may have selected the school in which he wishes to enroll, pertinent information still needed by the student or his parents may be gained at the college night event, he explained.

An added feature to this year's "College Night" program will be presentation of special scholastic certificates to 32 high school juniors and seniors, it was announced.

Three seniors will receive National Merit Scholastic Commendation certificates and 30 juniors are to be awarded National Merit Development certificates. The names of the academic award winners were announced in last Thursday's Press-Record.

University and college personnel planning to take part in Wednesday evening's program, include representatives from University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana campus; Eastern Illinois University, Charleston; St. Louis University; Washington University; Blackburn College, Carlinville; Milliken University, Decatur; Central Methodist College, Fayette, Mo.; MacMurray College, Jacksonville; Illinois State University at Normal; Illinois College, Jacksonville; and Southern Illinois University - Southern campus.

Organ Duo Present Set 'Play-In at GC HS'

A concert "Play In," featuring a organ duo, an organ duo, The X-Plorations, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the Granite City high school, 3101 Madison avenue.

The Jack Johnson Music store, which is sponsoring the concert, has invited all music enthusiasts to attend. Admission is free.

"Regardless of musical taste, Shay Torrent and Axel Alexander will launch the audience on a musical trip which includes the Sixties' Sounds, a Rhythm Beat, Bach, Marchtime and a popular Musical Look at the Movies," Johnson said.

Together, the X-Plorations have toured both the North American continent and Europe. They have performed in Town Hall, New York; at the Will Rogers Memorial Auditorium in Fort Worth; the Palais Montcalm in Quebec City; the Continental Hilton in Mexico and before 70,000 at Soldier Field in Chicago.

Their accomplishments include composing, conducting, and arranging. Jack Johnson personnel will be on hand to demonstrate the exclusive features of the new Hammond organs.

Adverse Winter Driving Can be Offset--Chief

Some persons develop strong feelings of anxiety when faced with adverse winter driving, and for those, Granite City's Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer offers tension-relieving advice.

"Dramatically reduced traction is a major winter problem," Chief Veizer emphasized, "but there are steps all motorists can take now, based on recommendations from tests conducted for years by the National Safety Council's committee on winter driving hazards."

Rather than fretting, according to the chief, every driver can equip his car for the best possible traction for all conditions and types of driving.

For getting started, the NSC committee compared conventional snow tires, studded snow tires and reinforced tire chains with the pulling ability of regular tires on glare ice.

The tests disclosed that conventional snow tires provided 28% improvement over regular tires. Studded tires developed about three times the pull, and reinforced tire chains about seven times the pull of regular tires on glare ice.

For stopping on ice, conventional snow tires offered no advantage. Studded snow tires produced a 19% improvement, and reinforced tire chains a 50% improvement over regular tires.

On loosely packed snow, however, conventional snow tires were 13% better than regular tires and reinforced tire chains were 37% better.

Chief Veizer pointed out that these comparisons were made with traction aids on rear wheels only.

"This is important," he said, "because cornering—the ability to round a curve and still maintain steering—is a major traction problem."

Traction aids are of little advantage to the driver in cornering unless used on all four wheels.

"Drivers must remember that, regardless of traction aids, in no instance can they stop or go nearly as well on snow or ice as with regular highway tires on dry pavement," Chief Veizer said.

"Winter-glazed roads demand different driving habits. Slow down, brake easy and early and plan each maneuver in advance."

Area Woman Injured In Edwardsville Fire

Mrs. Marie Milican, 48, of Holiday Mobile Home Parks, state Route 35, and two other persons injured in a fire at the Propalex plant near Edwardsville Thursday night were reported in good condition at Memorial Hospital in Belleville Friday. Mrs. Milican suffered a wrist injury.

Others hurt in the explosion and fire were Robert Coffey, 49, of Caseyville, a plant foreman who suffered a back injury, and Miss Heister Keeling, 48, of Mount Olive who suffered a foot fracture.

The 5:50 explosion followed by fire that gutted one of a number of warehouses of the Propalex plant started when a signal flare went off and ignited more than 1000 other flares stored in the building, according to Ed Coobaugh, chief of the Edwardsville fire department.

The plant manufactures fast-burning fuel and consists of widely scattered buildings. Although fuel was stored in the other buildings, these were not threatened by the explosion and subsequent fire, Coobaugh said. He said the fire was brought under control by 7 p.m. No estimate of damage was available.

Roll call was answered with ways to "help out at home," "neighborhood level" and Laurie Shuran, secretary-treasurer.

The leaders instructed the scouts in the correct way to set a table, and a "you are a plate" game was played. A discussion was held on the skating party Nov. 11 at Wilson Park from 4 to 6 p.m. The meeting adjourned with a "magic tunnel" and singing.

Wave the American Flag—Proudly

(Following is an address given by Mrs. Robert W. (Valerie) Stevens of Granite City, Madison school district vocal music supervisor, at the Zonta International fall conference held Oct. 17-19 in Oshkosh, Wis.)

(Past president of the Belleville Zonta club, she served on the Service and Educational Development Committee of the women's international service organization along with Mrs. Helvi Sipilä of Helsinki, Finland, president of Zonta International.)

(Born on Nov. 11, Veterans' Day, Mrs. Stevens was taught by her parents since she was a small child "to respect the flag, our country and the government — no matter which party controlled the American States, Republicans or Democrats.")

("No matter what patriotic day it is, you will always see me dressed in red, white and blue. I wear a flag pin every day," she relates.)

(In addition to speaking at the Zonta meeting, she has given the talk to Business and Professional Women's clubs in Belleville and Decatur and to Zonta clubs in Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, Missouri and Kentucky.)

(How will she spend Veterans' Day, 1969? At the Hermann, Mo., museum where there is a display of the sword and medals of her great-grandfather, Col. E. Nicholas Schwarzenbach, who served in the Spanish-American War.)

Can we wave the flag too much? I don't think so. Being a patriotic American means to me to be loyal to this great country and to believe in the principles for which it stands. Do you wave the flag with integrity?

It is possible to study Lincoln, Shakespeare or the Bible too much? I don't think so.

much? The great, the true, the good, are inexhaustible for example and strength. I don't believe we are waving our American flag enough. It seems to me we are ashamed, timid and even apologetic.

Look at your own neighborhoods on election day or any holiday, such as Veterans' Day, Memorial Day, July 4th, Labor Day.

Why isn't a flag waving from every rooftop, home, school and public building? We seem to have patriotic cancerous decay.

The flag should be a symbol of unity no matter what color you are, what political party you prefer, or what religious organization you belong to.

The flag should stand for the best that is in our souls — faith in our democracy, character and loyalty. Isn't the flag the United States of America?

In this mad rushing world we live in, we should take time out to think. Let us go back to spiritual and ethical values and re-kind the old-fashioned way of patriotism! It doesn't cost a cent.

Isn't our flag Washington, Jefferson, George Washington Carver, Revere, Hale, Amelia Earhart?

Isn't it Gettysburg, Valley Forge, Plunders Field, Wake Island, Ford, Tim, Normandy, Vietnam?

Isn't our flag Brock, Maxvill, Nicklaus, Flood, Jim, Normandy, Vietnam?

Isn't our flag Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy, Martin Luther King, Johnson, Humphrey and Nixon?

Believe it's our only beacon of light. Hasn't our country always been the haven for the persecuted, the oppressed, and every nationality?

Can we wave the flag too much? I don't think so.

Solid Contributions by SIU for Many Years Add Perspective to Residence Cost Issue

The governor and others probably are accurate in saying that Southern Illinois University residential building — under construction at Carbondale at a cost of $900,000 to $1 million has affected public support of state fund allocations for higher education. But we do not think that the public opposes or will oppose expenditures for higher education in general; what it wants is greater assurance and knowledge regarding the spending of the money.

In agreeing that the procedures should be improved, we think it is pertinent to add that there is some public misunderstanding of the project. The building also is to be used to house distinguished visitors to the university, who have included the U.S. President and his family in the past. Road and utility costs which are a part of the total are expected to be useful to other facilities on the campus.

The University of Illinois spent in excess of $130,000 in 1963 for its president's home, an amount that would be considerably higher in 1969 dollars. That institution also has provided hotel facilities in the University of Illinois Union building.

As residents of this area know from their familiarity with the Southwestern campus, SIU traditionally goes "first class" in the construction and equipping of buildings. That cost has been a factor in the building of the new residence, but it is not wasteful to the extent that durable facilities succeed in avoiding later maintenance, repair and replacement costs.

This having been said, we believe it would have been wiser to keep a closer rein on the cost of the Carbondale home, and that if SIU officials had dealt more forthrightly with the public they could have sensed this earlier, when revisions were made feasible.

It seems clear that far too much money was committed to the residence. A substantial part of the funds could and should have been devoted to more useful educational purposes than the building of a residence.

It was a serious mistake to allow the proposal to just "grow like Topsy." Various phases of the building project have been completed, without anyone exercising sufficient control or obtaining an understanding of the total project and its potential aggregate cost.

Despite the errors of judgment, their nature is such that so far the public would be compensated by finding somebody to "take the rap."

U.S.W. Chancellor Rendleman seems to be a convenient target because he formerly was SIU vice-president for business affairs. In that capacity, he gave a legal opinion that the building need not be cleared with the Illinois Board of Higher Education. He represented a replacement project rather than new facilities; the previous residence was damaged by fire.

Whether the opinion was correct or incorrect is still a debated point, but to laymen it has considerable logic.

In any case, Dr. Rendleman should not be made a scapegoat. As the faculty, and the students, and the public have shown "energetic, imaginative and intelligent leadership" as chancellor of SIU-SW.

It may occur to some to vilify Dr. Morris.

since he will be the one living in the structure and since he shoulders the ultimate responsibility for recommendations to the SIU board.

But he is approaching retirement age and cannot benefit personally from the opportunity to reside there for any extended period. As in the case of other construction, he undoubtedly was building with his eye on the future.

His goal was and is an outstanding university, and he has been uniquely successful. Few schools in the U.S. can match SIU's qualitative and quantitative growth, and this has bolstered Illinois and its people much more than administrators' egos or careers. His handling of destructive demonstrators was infinitely more astute than the fumbling indecisiveness of many better known college presidents.

It seems excessive or premature for the head of the Board of Higher Education to talk publicly about ousting Dr. Morris and Dr. Rendleman. The study of university spending hardly can be complete at this point, and Chairman Clements should keep in mind that his board was created to speak and act as a board, not as individuals.

We disagree with SIU board executive committee policies which seem to be in the mind which cannot be handled initially in open sessions, such as a possible land purchase or a review of potentially derogatory information affecting the hiring or firing of an employee. But it is essential that final decisions be made publicly, and the records produced so far do not indicate formal action on the residence.

And when there is substantial resort to executive sessions, as is the case at SIU, there usually is a tendency to include in them discussions that could far better occur openly.

Perhaps the distinction between tax and non-tax funds is valid, but the SIU board may have given inadequate regard to the public's right to know how it was using grants and overhead funds (reimbursements for use of facilities in which actual operating costs are not increased by the use).

Every such dollar directly affects the public. Overhead and cost of returned tax and non-tax funds is valid, but the SIU board may have given inadequate regard to the public's right to know how it was using grants and overhead funds (reimbursements for use of facilities in which actual operating costs are not increased by the use).

In summary, the Board of Higher Education should not only prod state universities in this regard but also make sure it has set adequate guidelines for them to follow. And it should take care that its remedy "cures rather than kills the patient."

SIU has proved itself over a span of many decades, and can continue to do so if Illinoisans keep its strengths as well as its weaknesses in perspective and if procedural deficiencies are eliminated immediately.

Education Week, Veterans Day Link Shows With Preservation of American Principles

It is no coincidence that American Education Week will include Veterans Day this year, as it has in the past. Observed since 1921, the special week since 1926 has emphasized the teaching of civics.

Draft boards noted in world war I that 25% of those called for military service were illiterate and 29% were physically unfit. This led the Americanism Commission of the newly-formed American Legion to consult as early as 1917 with the National Education Association and U.S. Office of Education to launch an educational campaign to correct the deficiencies.

American Education Week evolved from such discussions, with joint sponsorship by the NEA and Legion. The Office of Education joined the two original sponsors the following year, 1922, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers became a co-sponsor in 1938.

As was brought out at the 1969 annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the Tri-Cities, preservation of the American system of individualism and democracy depends on active citizenship and effective efforts to pass an appreciation of democratic principles from one generation to the next.

American Education Week spotlights this worthy, essential objective — educating the young so that the torch of liberty can be kept burning brightly not only for the present but forever.

Desperately Needed Road Building Delayed Indefinitely by Fund Freeze

(The Midwest Motorist)

St. Clair and Madison counties have a vast network of highways in the making. The construction has hit a snag because of a highway freeze imposed by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads — trying up $54 million in federal highway work, and delaying a much-needed road program for 1½ years.

East side highways are being delayed, but it is not wasteful to the extent that durable facilities succeed in avoiding later maintenance, repair and replacement costs.

This four-lane divided stretch serves a prime recreation area, and the sailboats, water skiers, and fishing vessels which can be seen by passing motorists give an added charm to the scenery.

At Carleton, where the Mississippi and Illinois Rivers converge, the road runs along the edge of the Illinois River past the picturesque town of Marquette State Park.

Most area motorists are probably familiar with the road, which is a two-lane highway, merging northeast of Collinsville and proceed westward toward the new Poplar Street bridge.

But there are other freeways under construction or on the drawing boards which, when completed five to ten years from now, will dramatically improve east side roads.

One of the most crucial of these is Interstate 64, now under construction. When completed (two years after the freeze) it will provide for a 20-mile stretch of freeway between East St. Louis and O'Fallon. It will bisect the area between the two cities with the greatest growth.

Significantly, it will link with the majestic Macdams Highway, which rivals the world's best in scenic beauty.

A four-lane freeway proceeding directly eastward, will provide a four-lane highway linking Edwardsville and the sprawling 200-acre Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus with Cahokia, a 30-mile stretch.

Extension of Route 480 will provide a four-lane freeway from Belleville to New Athens, in about 10 years.

The interstate side, Route 235, is now on the drawing boards. Plans call for it to extend from Cahokia Mounds to the Illinois River at Belleville, southwesterly, winding past East St. Louis, Cahokia and Dupu to the Jefferson Adams bridge.

State highway engineers report the $2 billion road bond issue approved last year is a bonanza for the 11 counties covered by District 8 of the Division of Highways, which includes St. Clair and Madison.

Three supplementary freeways are to be built in the district at a cost of some $200 million, the bulk to be spent in the two counties.

The projects, in addition to Relocated Route 50 (F-9), include:

F-13, a four-lane freeway extending from Cahokia Mounds State Park, just west of the SIU-SW campus, and past the north-eastern edge of Alton. This road will parallel the existing Route 11 and be completed for completion in 1975.

Relocated Route 3, a four-lane divided highway from Alton to East St. Louis, will be completed in 1975.

Nov. 18 Voting Important Because Constitution Does Need Updating

(Southern Illinois University News Services)

Imagine a state of 10 million whose lives are governed by a constitution that says: "The state can't go into debt beyond $250,000."

Nobody can hold a state office if he already has one in a foreign nation or the U.S. government — with the exception of postmasters who don't earn more than $300 a year. State senate districts shall be formed by land areas, not population figures.

Every bill brought before the state legislature must be read in full on three different days. The legislature can raise money by taxing jugglers, auctioneers, hawks, patent vendors and ferris.

No city, county, township or school district in the state can be indebted beyond 5% of the value of taxable property within its boundaries.

If it all sounds like something out of the dim but simple past, all those archaic decrees, and dozens more that are simply irrelevant, are threatened by a new document that governs 11 million Illinoisans to day.

It's right out of 1870, in fact, the year that the present Constitution of Illinois was adopted. All those archaic decrees, and dozens more that are simply irrelevant, are threatened by a new document that governs 11 million Illinoisans to day.

That's one reason why, on Nov. 18, those of the 10 million who are 21 years old and otherwise qualified to vote are being summoned to the polls to choose 116 persons for the task of rewriting the constitution.

The task is one that a politician might describe as fraught with challenge and peril, but it is no more so than the task of the voters.

Veterans Symbolize Idealism, Belief in the Worth of America

By MORRIS L. COOK

Quad-City Army Recruiter

Veterans' Day is a day for all Americans. It is a day to pause and acknowledge the respect and admiration we have for our veterans. It is a day to honor our veterans who died in the struggle for another day of peace.

Let us never forget that our veterans symbolize the idealism, self-sacrifice and faith that are part of our heritage.

Prevalent in our heritage are the human qualities of bravery, compassion, imagination, industry and ingenuity. All are a must in the pursuit and establishment of lasting peace.

We are a nation that has always possessed patriotism — not only the short bursts of emotion but the steady dedication of a lifetime.

There is something noble about our men and women in the Quad-City area, and there is something that they have served, and many died, because of their love for this great land of ours and everything for which it stands.

Fellow Quad-Cityans, let us never forget that if we lack the courage to stand firm for our beliefs, or if we lack any beliefs which we feel deserve the heritage which is ours, and we are unworthy of the sacrifices our veterans have made for us.

They believed in the worth of our country's people and traditions; in the right of men to liberty and the pursuit of happiness, as well as life.

They kept faith with their country and with us who follow. It is our turn to keep that faith.

Hundreds of Quad-Cityans have served and are now serving in the wonderful country we call America.

They are dedicated, even though that call to duty has been to the front lines of peace, hardship, danger — and, for some, death.

Let us on Veterans' Day 1969 say "Thanks!" to our dedicated men and women all over the world by displaying our flag proudly on their day.

John J. Brenholtz Jr., Alton, and Cicerio J. Lindly, Bond County, were elected as delegates to the Constitutional Convention. Both are Republicans.

Leaders of the Mine Workers Union have agreed to call off their nationwide strike, and Acting President John L. Lewis will attempt to have the men return to work immediately. Low coal shortages are expected to be relieved soon.

Charles C. Morefield of Boy Scout Troop One has received a banner from the Fifth Liberty Loan drive.

AVOID APPLES AS HALLOWEEN GIFTS

To the Editor:

On Halloween night we took our young children "trick or treat." Their night of fun almost resulted in a lot of pain and injury.

As with most children, they saved their apples for last. On Sunday, afternoon, Nov. 2, the oldest child started eating an apple. He bit into a razor blade which was embedded in the apple.

Horror! We started to check the other apples and we thought of the other children we had seen out enjoying Halloween.

We called the police department, hoping they had some way to warn the other parents to avert some small child's injury and pain.

A police officer came and was fully convinced when he saw the apple that the children put the blade in the apple.

He tried to get the boys to admit doing it. But they were not ready to say they did it.

He finally left with the apple and the razor blade. The apple had the rusted imprint where the blade had been.

We have no answers, but parents, please, remember to watch your child for this type of thing.

The world is full of people with sick minds. It is necessary for us, as parents, to protect our children from them.

We hope you will print this as a warning to other parents. A child was injured, but think of what the injury could have been.

The person will undoubtedly be here to hand out apples next year, or someone as sick. There is no sure way of knowing where that apple came from.

TWO UPSET MOTHERS

C-221 miles of existing state highways will be revitalized, at a cost of $20 million a year.

But before all this takes place, one thing is certain. The freeze, somehow, has to be lifted.

It was levied because of high labor costs, said to be the highest in the nation, and on charges of racial discrimination.

The freeze hurts, state officials report, because it has cost the area 200 construction jobs by tying up $54 million in construction.

But more significantly, it has delayed the road building program the east side desperately needs to prosper.

Slavic, Balkan Folk Song, Dance Concert Here Nov. 23

The Duquesne University Tamburitzans, a company of 30 dancers and singers, in their annual visit to the Midwest will perform at SIU-SW on Sunday, Nov. 23.

They will present an array of songs and folk dances from Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Romania, Czechoslovakia, Russia and the Ukraine.

The Tamburitzans' purpose is to preserve and perpetuate the Slavic folk arts in America by educating the modern generation to the rich cultural heritage and traditions of their forefathers.

Each year, the Tamburitzans award scholarships to their university, based on musical ability and talent potential. Hundreds of authentic and brilliant costumes are used in a single Tamburitzan performance.

The 8 p.m. concert here will be sponsored jointly by Slavic and East European Friends and the International Folklore Federation of Greater St. Louis.

Aid Cultural Center Here

The Slavic and East European Friends endeavor to make SIU-SW one of the outstanding Slavic and East European cultural and research centers in the country through a library, lectures, concerts, conferences and scholarship awards.

Proceeds from the program at the SIU-SW University Center Meridian Hall will be divided between student financial assistance at Duquesne, International Folklore Federation activities in this region, and the Slavic-East European award and loan program at SIU-SW.

The Nov. 23 performance has captured the special interest of Col. Charles B. Schweizer, SIU Foundation assistant director, who was commanding officer of the Granite City Army Depot in the mid-1960s and previously served at the Depot as an officer in 1944.

Faculty, Ministers Support Rendelman

The faculty and ministers at the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern are supporting the chancellor of the campus in the issue involving the construction of a $900,000 home and guest house for SIU President Delyte Morris at the Carbondale campus.

John S. Rendelman, now chancellor here, was the legal advisor who recommended to the SIU board of trustees that it give the green light for construction of the facility without going back to the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

Members of the faculty here voted 224-to-13 to adopt a resolution supporting the chancellor and sending it to the state board and to Gov. Ogilvie. Six ministers signed a letter addressed to the state board in Rendelman's support and ask that it not jeopardize the future of the local campus by any precipitous action.

Auto Hits Pole

An auto that had been stolen was crashed into a pole at Bischoff street and Line alley in Venice and was abandoned there by the thieves about 3 a.m. Sunday. Venice police said the auto belonged to Peggy Nunn of East St. Louis.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE SOCIETY entertainers from the Quad-City area at the Army Depot recreation hall dedication Nov. 19, 1944. The occasion has been recalled by Col. Charles B. Schweizer of SIU-SW, formerly of the Depot, in announcing a performance at 8 p.m. Nov. 23 at SIU-SW by the Duquesne University Tamburitzans. Members of the group pictured who identify themselves and contact Col. Schweizer at 692-2211 will be sent free tickets to see the Tamburitzans.

Open House Tuesday for Venice-Madison Legion

In observance of the 50th anniversary of the American Legion, a public open house will be conducted from 7:30 to 11 p.m. tomorrow, Veteran's Day, at the Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307, in Venice.

A special opening segment at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday will be followed by the open house when exhibits may be viewed related to many programs sponsored by the legion and its auxiliary unit. "The public is invited to attend and become better acquainted with the legion's wide-spread activities," Miss Dorothy Hinson and Kenneth Hinson, open house chairmen, said today.

Founded in May 1919 after world war I, the American Legion continues to dedicate itself to four main programs of service — Americanism, child welfare, national security and rehabilitation, the chairmen explained. In addition, Legion and Auxiliary members participate in numerous other programs and projects throughout the year, geared to the national, state and local area.

The Veteran's Day observance also will recognize the efforts of the American Legion Auxiliary, founded one year after the men's organization to assist with programs of the Legionnaires. "Color Us Proud" is the theme of the 50th anniversary celebration, the co-chairmen said, in urging the public to attend.

Delinquency Intervention Experiment by SIU Center

By Pete Brown
OF SIU News Services

Johnny was a real problem kid in high school; he was always getting into fights. He was a loser as a student, but more than adequate with his fists.

What did the school do to Johnny? Suspended him for a whole semester and told him he'd have to make up the credits during summer vacation.

Next semester, Johnny came back and, to no one's particular surprise, was busted inside of two weeks for fighting again. He got the boot for seven days and was told if it happened again, he'd be expelled.

It probably would have happened again had not Johnny been introduced at that point to a Southern Illinois University graduate student involved in an experimental "delinquency intervention" project set up by SIU's Center for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Corrections.

The college student went to Johnny as a "Big Brother," with the sole mission of shaping the kid's behavior toward a "terminal objective" that would benefit not only Johnny, but the school and the community as well.

The immediate objective — it seems obvious enough — was to eliminate Johnny's fighting. Just as obvious, however, was the fact that previous strategies ("Stop it or you'll be kicked out" had failed spectacularly.

Big Brother went at it another way, the first step being to determine what impelled Johnny to fight (approval of his buddies and maintenance of his own sense of self-esteem).

After that, he proceeded to deal with Johnny's problem in a series of intermediate steps. He told him that if he kept his appointments, he could take boxing lessons (Johnny was a sort of brawler, with aspirations to sophistication). That rang his bell and, as Big Brother's report later described it, "this appointment-keeping behavior shaped up immediately."

From that promising start, the college student and nearly delinquent high school student got closer together. Appointments went just as likely like the form of fishing trips as of ice sessions.

Big Brother subtly directed discussions towards objective, realistic analyses of fighting, the futility of it and alternatives to it.

Johnny's non-fighting behavior is now shaping up, too. That's just one sketch out of 50 that could be drawn from the year-old project, directed by the Crime Center's Richard Pooley at the Carbondale Community High School.

It's supported by the state Department of Public Instruction's Board of Vocational Education and Rehabilitation. That agency is interested because evidence mounts that much of the rebelliousness against the "system" showing up at high schools can be traced to a certain kind of student.

He's the one who may have no college aspirations at all, who may want to be a mechanic or maintenance man. He sees high school as irrelevant to his future, a college-prep assembly line.

Pooley's Big Brother approach combines techniques of reinforcement and contingency management with hard-headed, scientific problem-solving methods.

Pooley says that many borderline high school delinquents and drop-outs could be retrained short of the brink if only their teachers and counselors would deal with their problems as behavioral events.

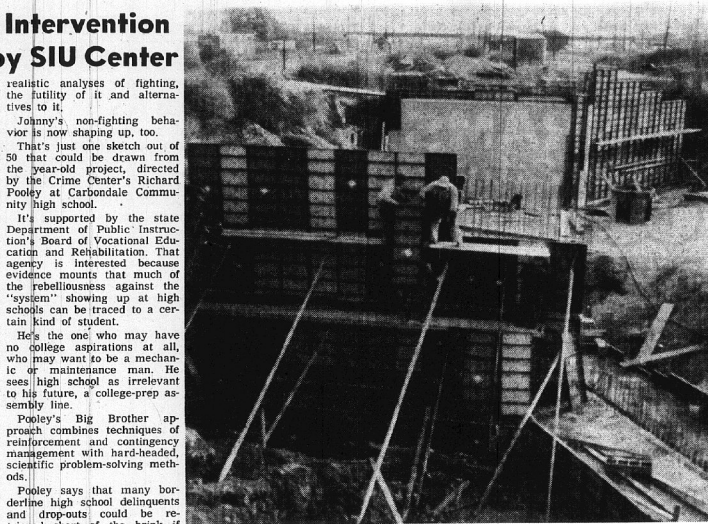

A Big Brother case involved a girl who was the subject of scorn and physical abuse by classmates because she was shabbily dressed, cared nothing about her appearance, had bad teeth and braid-patch hair. Sometimes they'd throw rocks at her.

Student-parent interviews hadn't made a dent in the problem. The Delinquency Intervention student assigned to the girl delved into her background, read her "emotional temperature" through a computerized personality test, then launched an intensive interpersonal attempt to reshape her grooming behavior.

She did it by complimenting the girl when she looked well, ignoring her when she looked bad. She stated a "contingency rule": Show me a big improvement in your teeth, hair and nails in four weeks, and we'll do something special.

She did, and Big Brother took her and her parents to a country music show. She reached maximum improvement in a period of three months.

That may seem a modest enough accomplishment, but it's a big one to the interventionists. It means the girl added something essential to her "repertoire" if she was to begin to cope with and manipulate her environment — an environment from which she had learned to expect nothing much more than rocks and bad words.

Fur Fabrics 'in'
When you shop for winter fabrics, take time to consider the wide variety of new available materials on the market. Some duplicate fur designs while others are frankly fake, making no attempt to look like a particular fur.

Here are some suggestions for sewing fur fabrics. To help reduce bulk, choose a simple pattern with a minimum of seams and darts. Examine the pattern for ways to eliminate seams. For example, the facings for front closures and sleeves can often be cut in one piece. Or you might eliminate a center back seam by cutting the entire back in one piece.

Be sure the pattern fits properly because ripping and re-stitching may show on the fabric. If you are in doubt, make a test muslin. Do not stay-stitch, understitch or top-stitch deep-pile fabrics as the presser foot will mat the surface.

If basting is necessary, do it by hand with silk thread to prevent marking the fabric. Use a size 14 machine needle with heavy-duty or polyester or rayon core thread. You may find it necessary to loosen top and bottom tensions and pressure, depending on the depth of pile. Use a long stitch, 8 to 10 per inch.

Stitch slowly in the direction of the pile. Force the pile back between the fabrics with a long needle as you sew. Use a needle or fine comb to gently pull out pile that may be wedged in the seam. Eliminate bulk by shearing the pile from the seam allowance. And clip curved seams.

Shaggy piles can easily be caught in zipper teeth. So before inserting a zipper, check to see what might open and close the zipper. If long fibers continually hinder smooth closure, consider other closings.

If you can use a zipper, it is recommended that you use the centered method of application. Attach the zipper by hand with short back-stitches and shear the pile from seam allowances.

Snacks in Your Diet
Planned snacking is often an excellent idea. You may find that you are able to maintain a higher level of energy throughout the day by dividing your total intake into four or five small meals rather than the usual three. For instance, you might prefer to start the day with just a bowl of cereal and milk, saving your fruit or juice for a mid-morning snack.

Snacks need not become a problem in your weight-control program if you remember to include them when figuring your daily calorie count.

Fire Drill at Home
By carrying out home fire drills regularly, you can help reduce panic in the event of fire in the home. Parents can hold practice sessions to firmly establish safe

Veterans Widows may be Eligible for VA Pensions

Veteran's widows are being reminded that if they have a limited income they may be eligible for a Veterans Administration pension.

Under current law, according to John B. Naser, manager of the VA's Regional Office in Chicago, qualified widows of wartime veterans who have died of causes not related to their service are eligible if their income is no more than $2000 if they have no children, and no more than $2000 if they do.

If a widow does not qualify for a pension because of a higher income or because she remarries, her children may still be eligible to receive pensions. Pensions are based on need, Naser explained. Compensation is paid to the survivors of veterans who die of service-connected causes, and the income of the survivor has no bearing on eligibility or the amount paid.

Persons seeking further information were urged to contact their nearest VA office, Naser said.

Workshop on Racial Questions Saturday
A recently formed group of young people making up a 15-member "Madison-Venice Committee for Reconciliation" will sponsor a workshop on questions of racial unrest and projected solutions of the problem Saturday from 3 to 5 p.m.

It was announced today by Robert Clinton, chairman. The program will be held in the Madison Methodist church, Fifth street and Ewing avenue, and will feature the appearance of Mayor Eric Morgan and Rev. Mitchell Faulkner of Lexington, N.C., who will discuss programs developed in their community.

Clinton explained that Lexington was confronted two years ago with critical racial problems. Mayor Morgan and Rev. Faulkner worked with concerned laymen of the community to work out meaningful solutions. Clinton said the Madison-Venice committee feels their experiences may help guide the area in preventing any major racial confrontation.

The program will be open to the public. A luncheon will be served at 5 p.m. Robert Graves of Granite City is vice-chairman, and Alice Thompson of Madison is secretary of the committee which was organized four months ago.

Spinning Wheels a Waste Starting on Ice, Snow

Getting your car moving on snow or ice can be a little tricky at times, admits Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer. Spinning the wheels, of course, is just a waste of gas and time.

His advice is to turn the wheels straight ahead, start gently and avoid over-powering by using the "drive" range or second gear. Letting some air out of the tires is not recommended, but tire chains are.

Semi-Retired Executive Aiding Hospital

A vast store of business experience, plus a boundless supply of energy and a willingness to help others recently were placed at the disposal of St. Elizabeth Hospital by a local semi-retired businessman who volunteered his services to assist the hospital "in anyway I can."

A long time ago, Pete Schermer, 2623 Delmar avenue, decided there was much work to be done by volunteers in hospitals. Throughout the years, he has lived up to this belief, perceiving many times shunned by others as too demanding or too megalomaniac.

In the early 1930's, the volunteer executive was of great assistance to the local hospital, helping primarily in matters of business and finance, and traveling on the institution's behalf, on occasions, to conferences in Chicago and elsewhere.

After retiring from daily business activities in 1952, Schermer performed volunteer work for the past year or more at the Jewish Home for the Aged on Blair avenue, St. Louis.

His efforts were directed always to helping the elderly persons living at the home. He provided the necessary transportation to and from the school of physical, clinics and other medical centers, whenever needed.

Accompanied by a staff member or registered nurse, the local resident also furnished the means for many patients to visit Forest Park or the St. Louis Municipal Opera.

Despite an illness a few years ago which required him to be hospitalized for short time, Schermer rebounded with the vitality of a much younger man and continued his own "volunteer program of assistance."

Born in Austria, Pete Schermer was orphaned at three years of age. In 1906, when 11 years old, he came to the United States and attended school in Madison.

Welly Children Need Bunk Beds, Teenage Clothing

Friends of Mrs. Lottie Lynn, 2013 Fourth street, Madison, who recently became responsible for the 11 orphaned children of her late son-in-law and daughter, Glen and Inez Welly, report that a considerable quantity of clothing has been donated by generous Quad-Cityans who learned of the family's plight last week.

Mrs. Arlene Tadlock, 2602 Cayuga street, and Mrs. Theresa Naylor, 2238 Missouri avenue, who are spearheading the effort to help Mrs. Lynn and the children, noted Friday that certain clothing items still are needed, as well as furnishings for the grandmother's home.

Among the items most urgently sought are bunk beds, a crib, chest of drawers, sheets and a washer and dryer.

Mrs. Tadlock said that plans are being made to hold a benefit sale of donated clothing, unable to be used by the children, with the proceeds to be added to a trust fund for the Welly youngsters which has been established at the Granite City Trust & Savings Bank.

Contributions to the trust fund, to be known as the Welly Children's Fund, will be accepted at the bank, R. J. Hildebrand, assistant bank trustee, said. Donations should be made payable to the fund and are to be mailed or delivered to the trust department of the bank.

School clothing, in teen-age style, in sizes seven and eight girls, Mrs. Tadlock said, is still needed by the two older girls, Mrs. Welly said. She emphasized that should the benefit sale be arranged all proceeds will be deposited in the fund.

Donations of furnishings or clothing may be taken directly to the grandmother's home, or to the residences of Mrs. Naylor and Mrs. Tadlock.

Gateway Council Ups Fees, Adds 6 Board Members

Quad-City area communities affiliated with the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council will pay increased fees to the council under action taken at the annual meeting of the general assembly Thursday night.

The council membership, made up of mayors of more than 100 Illinois and Missouri area communities served by the Gateway Council, voted to increase per capita share costs from five cents to eight cents—a move that will produce an additional $36,000 and prevent a $38,500 deficit in the 1970 budget.

The assembly voted also to approve expansion of the council's board membership from the present 15 to 21 by adding six "regional citizen" board members. The action is expected to provide the first integration on the board since Mayor A. J. Conventes of St. Louis and Mayor Alvin C. Fields of East St. Louis have both said they plan to appoint Negroes.

System of Appointment
Under the plan approved at Thursday's session, one member each will be appointed by the mayors of St. Louis and East St. Louis, by the governors of Illinois and Missouri, by the supervisor of St. Louis county and by the board of supervisors of Madison county.

Addition of the new citizen memberships was in response to demands earlier this year that black members be put on technical committees of the council. The council membership has been all white.

The increase per capita share plan will raise the fee paid by each community participating in services of the Gateway Council through which all plans for public improvements must be cleared.

Policeman-Student at SIU 'New Breed' in Profession

By night, Don Rogers patrols the Carbondale Campus of Southern Illinois University in a squad car.

By day, he strides across the campus, books in hand, among 25,000 other students going to class.

Don Rogers is one of the "new breed" — a policeman studying to be a better policeman.

The man who wears a badge today has to know a great deal about the law, science and sociology," he declares. "Most of all, he has to know people—what makes them act and why they react the way they do in any situation."

At 34, with four years of experience on the SIU Security Force, Rogers is pursuing that knowledge as a part-time student in the corrections and law enforcement course at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. The first student began enrolled when the program began in 1967.

The force's own in-service training program and a four-week school conducted by the University's Division of Technical and Adult Education, for law enforcement officers from throughout the state gave Rogers the basic tools of his new profession.

Started two years ago with ten part-time students, the VTI course now has an enrollment of 51 students on campus and 31 prison employees at Menard and Vienna, with students ranging from veterans officers to youths fresh out of high school who are interested in police careers.

The VTI associate degree program in corrections and law enforcement incorporates studies in police, prison and parole work in a basic curriculum, with additional courses in each of the three specializations. Of 198 other two-year schools in the nation, only one in California uses this "team" approach in educating those involved in the apprehension and treatment of criminals as recommended by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice.

Field trips to Chicago and East St. Louis on which members of his law enforcement class paired off with city policemen on their regular duties have convinced Rogers that police work in the University community is much like the job of policemen anywhere.

"Here we deal with a younger group, and we don't have as many family problems as you would encounter in the cities, same," he says.

Since Rogers enrolled in the two-year law enforcement program, 11 other members of the Security Force have followed him into the classroom.

"I hope by the time I finish this the University will have a bachelor's degree program in police science," Rogers says. "I'm going to stay in law enforcement, and I want to have the knowledge to do the best I possibly can."

Servicemen Widows to Receive Added Benefits

Bigger checks for about 168,000 widows are due in January, Donald E. Johnson, administrator of Veterans Affairs, announced today.

Signed by the President on Oct. 27, 1968, a new law (PL 91-96) authorizes increases for most widows of servicemen and veterans who are eligible for dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC). DIC payments, Johnson explained, are authorized for widows of servicemen and veterans who died on or after Jan. 1, 1957, of service connected causes.

The new legislation does not affect payments to survivors receiving compensation under laws that preceded the DIC program.

New DIC rates provide $167 monthly for the widow of a lowest ranking enlisted man compared to a minimum of $134 at present. Similar increases are provided for eligible widows of other enlisted men and officers.

Effective Dec. 1, the increase will show up first in checks received in January. This increase is automatic and no application is needed. Widows with minor children will get an extra $20 per month per child under the legislation. With few exceptions, they get nothing extra now. Forms for making application for children's allowances will be mailed to all widows automatically, Johnson said.

DIC payments have been tied to military pay through a complex formula. In raising DIC rates, Congress discarded the complex formula and provided a table of payments based on pay grade.

Two sign violation tickets were issued Thursday night and Friday morning to Norman D. Smith, Rural Route One, at Fehling road and State street, and to Michael G. Mooney, 2817 Forest avenue, at St. Clair avenue and Edgewood drive.

Dick Mudge in Demo Senate Race; Musso for Treasurer

Dick H. Mudge, Edwardsville attorney and former state's attorney who frequently has been a thorn in the side of the regular county Democratic organization, announced today that he is running for nomination as state senator of the 33rd Senatorial District Thursday, assuring a primary battle in that campaign.

Mudge announced his candidacy at a reception in Edwardsville last week for State Treasurer Adlai E. Stevenson III, who is seeking the Democratic nomination as U. S. Senator. Mudge is a Stevenson supporter, another political factor that puts him at odds with the old line Democratic organization which already has announced county party support of State Senator Alan J. Dixon of Belleville as a U. S. Senator candidate.

Meanwhile George Musso, now sheriff, formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination as treasurer in letters mailed to Democratic precinct committeemen. Musso also placed his nominating petitions in circulation at the same time.

Began Fund Investments
In announcing his candidacy, Musso pointed out that he served as treasurer of Madison county from 1962 to 1966 and that during that term he initiated the policy of investing idle county funds which earned the county $346,000 in interest. He said that to the best of his knowledge, the county had received only $8231 in interest prior to that time.

In becoming the organization-backed candidate for treasurer, Musso follows the usual pattern of office trading between the treasurer and sheriff when both offices are held by members of a dominant political party. Neither the sheriff nor treasurer can succeed himself in office under state law.

John Maeras of Madison, who now is county treasurer, announced last week he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination as sheriff to succeed Musso.

Mudge's entry into the Democratic state senate race came only a day after Harry Briggs, Nameoki township supervisor, announced he would seek the nomination. Briggs ran for the senate post in a special election last April after the post was vacated by the election of former State Senator Paul Simon to Illinois lieutenant governor.

Senator Terms Expire
Briggs was defeated by a small plurality, however, by Republican Merrill Ottewill of Edwardsville to fill the interim vacancy until the 1970 elections. Terms of all state senators expire next year. Briggs at that time had the support of the Venice-Madison political organization headed by Mayor John Lee of Venice and Mayor Stephen Maeras of Madison.

The county Democratic committee thus far has made no endorsements for offices subject to the March primary election next year and there have been no indications as to whether the committee will support Briggs or some other candidate that may emerge later.

Mudge has been active in state and county Democratic activities for many years but has opposed the regular organization in a number of elections. He served as state's attorney two terms from 1956 to 1964.

In 1968 he opposed and defeated Mayor Lee of Venice in the election of delegates to the national nominating convention. At that time Mudge supported the nomination of Senator Eugene McCarthy for president.

Black Egyptian Gets 2-6 Years, Judge Criticized

A sentence of two-to-six years in prison assessed Black Egyptian Eddie Woods of East St. Louis last week was criticized by State's Atty. R. W. Griffith as being too lenient.

Woods was convicted of the armed robbery and shooting of Harry Snell of Madison, an attendant at a service station near Madison, last March 27.

Griffith's office recommended a sentence of seven to 14 years, and the probation office suggested 5 to 10 years. Woods will be eligible for parole in six months to two years. The lighter sentence was passed by Circuit Judge James O. Monro.

The following a probation hearing.

The state's attorney said he would continue to prosecute Woods on a charge of aggravated kidnapping stemming from the shooting and robbery.

Snell was terrorized by three Egyptians in a limousine and testified that Woods threatened to kill him to a tree for use in target practice and then gave him a choice of the type of gun he would like to be killed with, a pistol or a saved-off shotgun.

He was shot in the chest with a pistol and dumped in East St. Louis. Snell was in critical condition in a hospital for two weeks and was reportedly still recuperating.

Another defendant in the case, Larry Isaacs, is a fugitive. The third person and the driver in the car, Michael Crockett of East St. Louis, testified for the prosecution. He said Snell had ordered him to drive around. He had pleaded guilty to the robbery charge and was granted probation.
